Design feedback – by Anthony Pinter

I really love your about page. I wonder if you could use that format on other pages (like the Projects and Contact pages).

At first I wasn't sure on how to apply the same style on the other pages but after some reflection I think I can use the same concept on the projects page and I am going to try and update it accordingly.

I think the home page photo should be bigger.

Fair enough, I agree.

Try changing the footer bar to be the same color as the nav bar (although I don't hate the color now).

Honestly, I like the footer and the navbar in different colors.

Design feedback – by peers

The color scheme is really cool, but my favorite part is the "about" section of your website. It is super creative and a fun way to learn more information about you.

Thanks!

I wish the hover interactions had an easier-to-see color. Not a big issue at all tho.

I wondered the same thing, but I wanted it to be something sutil. Probably not changing it.

I am wondering what it would like if the about page had some hover interactions. What would happen if Felipe.origin turned orange, for instance?

I don't really see the point in adding hover states for non clickable objects. Probably not changing it.

I really like the colors he used and the under nav bar on the bottom. I also like how he filled his contact page and centered it.

Thanks!

I really like his about page but it could be a bit confusing to some people so maybe changing that up a little bit.

The idea is to have a website that might be reviewed by potential employers in the tech industry, so I like how it demonstrates creativity and associates me with computer science. At the same time it has a terminal like structure, I believe anyone that takes a second look is able to understand it, even if they have no CS background. Not changing it.

I am wondering a little more about his assignments outside of this class and work.

Definitely going to add my own projects to the project section of the website. After class I am going to use this base to create my actual website and add projects I've done for school and internship experiences.

I like the font he chose. I also really like the about page.

Thanks!

I wish the font on the about page was a little bigger.

Fair enough. I can change that.

I do like the picture on the home page, but I wonder if it would be better as a headshot.

I am making adjustments to the home page picture but probably not making it a headshot. Might include a headshot somewhere else though.

I like the layout, especially the about page, everything is really cohesive and well done.

Thanks!

I'm wondering how he made the about page!

Little bit of html and css ;)

i like the colors and layout of his page

Thanks!

i wish that the project page could have better flow and maybe the boxes could be more transparent?

I agree partially. I do think that page needs some restructuring and I am going to work on it eventually.

i wonder what else he could add to make his pages have better flow

What do you mean?

I like the organization of the website. I like the links at the bottom of the page, makes it look professional. I like how the nav bar doesn't move. The about page is really fun

Thanks

having a 'thank you' message after submitting your message

I will add some feedback to the send message feature.

I really like how clean the font is and how the colors look together. I also like that there was both a navigation bar and a footer that contained links to his social media pages. The contact page also looks great and is laid out in a very straightforward way.

Thanks

I wish the about me page had an image or something to make it feel more personal, but I do like how you incorporated a coding language font.

Will consider it. Depends on how the picture looks on the page. I will try it out.

I am wondering if the website would look a little more cohesive if the page title layout was incorporated on the home page as well.

Not changing that. The home page is the landing page the others are sections of the website.
